Introduction

Give a short description of the background of your study. Specify the objective(s) or research question(s).

Patients and methods

Describe the population, research methods, measurements, intervention (when applicable) and analyses.

Results

Describe your population and the results. Please note that abstract without results will not be accepted for oral presentations. In case of quantitative research, include quantitative data rather than a general description of the results.

Conclusion

Give your conclusion based on the results. Add implications for both research and practice.
